

Move to stir criticism

U. S. blocks Vietnam bid for U. N. entry

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Ford's decision to block Vietnam's entry into the United Nations again was expected to unleash a torrent of angry criticism today from the Southeast Asian nation's supporters on the Security Council.

Ambassador William W. Scranton announced in Washington Monday after a meeting with Ford that he would veto the Vietnamese application for U.N. membership because Hanoi has failed to account for about 800 Americans still listed as missing in action (MIA) in Vietnam.

The Security Council is expected to vote on the Vietnamese application late today or Wednesday.

Scranton asserted that the veto had nothing to do with the American presidential campaign. But a Vietnamese communiqué said, "It is no secret to anyone that Mr. Ford's real concern is not on American MIAs and their families but on the vote in his election campaign."

Jimmy Carter, Ford's Democratic presidential opponent, said Monday that he agrees with President Ford's refusal to allow Vietnam to join the United Nations.

Carter also said in Phoenix, Ariz., that he would not move to establish normal relations with Hanoi "until I was convinced personally that the Vietnamese government had done everything humanly possible to provide a complete accounting of our men who are listed as missing in action."

A number of diplomats whose governments are friendly to the United States said they appreciated the emotional strength of the MIA issue. But they expressed regret that Washington was losing an opportunity to establish ties with Vietnam and counter the growing Soviet presence in Indochina.

It was believed that all council members but the United States would support Vietnam's application, and strong attacks on the American position were expected from Communist and nonaligned members.

The nonaligned countries have already declared that "any opposition to the admission of Vietnam is legally and morally irrelevant, indefensible and unjustifiable."

"He has no justification for the veto," said Libyan Ambassador Mansur R. Kikhia, the Security Council president for September, after Scranton's announcement.

Scranton said that by withholding information on the missing men, Vietnam was failing to meet U.N. criteria that a member must be "peace-loving" and "humanitarian." He accused Hanoi of "brutal" and "inhumane" treatment of the families of missing men.

But other council members recalled that last year, when the United States cast twin vetoes against the admission of North and South Vietnam, U.S. delegate Daniel Patrick Moynihan said he was doing so only because the council refused to take up South Korea's membership application.

BEAMS BEING PLACED — The above scene can be found on Ohio 41-S, at Sugar Creek, where the construction of a new bridge is occurring. Pictured are two cranes lifting a 14 ton beam (one of 18 beams being used) which are placed on the piers, the support of the structure, and span the 67 foot distance from one abutment to the other.

Completion eyed 'before winter'

Construction target date advanced on Ohio 41 span

The construction of a new bridge that is to span Sugar Creek on Ohio 41-S, four miles south of Washington C.H., is progressing at such a rate that the tentative completion date of May 31, 1977, has been moved up to "before winter".

The Kokosing Construction Co., headquartered in Fredericktown, outside of Mansfield, has undertaken the task of building the replacement for the old Sugar Creek crossing which, according to construction workers on the site, has "seen better days".

Today, 18 pre-cast concrete beams, weighing 14 tons each, are being hauled via semi trailer rigs from Reliance Universal, Inc., Concrete Products Division, located in Columbus.

It takes two cranes to lift the beams, which are 67 feet long, and then to place them on the 25 foot high, 30 inch wide, piers which support the structure. The beams, which span the width of the presently dammed Sugar Creek, are supported on each end by abutments. The cost of erecting the beams is $53,000.

John R. Clark, deputy director of the Ohio Department of Transportation district headquarters in Delaware, said the old span is one of the more critical bridge structures in the central Ohio area.

The present structure, which was constructed across Sugar Creek in 1931, is considered by the Ohio Department of Transportation as the fourth most critical bridge in the eight-county Delaware district.

Clark said an average of 2,800 vehicles use the structure daily and many of them are stone and gravel trucks which haul from the Sugar Creek Stone Quarry, just south of the bridge.

The present bridge is only 23 feet wide. The new bridge is to be 44 feet wide and will be constructed with reinforced concrete. The new span will be 201 feet long. The entire project includes relocation of Ohio 41 for about one-half mile, one fourth of a mile on each end of the bridge.

The bridge is presently located in a small valley on a slight curve. Clark said the project will realign the roadway from each side of the hill

Office open until 5 p.m.

Bicentennial edition to be sold Saturday

The Record-Herald business office, 138 S. Fayette St., will remain open until 5 p.m. Saturday because of the publication of a special bicentennial edition. The business office normally closes at 12 noon on Saturdays.

Persons who have reserved copies of the bicentennial edition may obtain them between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Saturday. Additional copies, priced at $1 apiece, will also be offered at that time. Copies not sold on Saturday will be offered at the business office Monday.

Regular Record-Herald news stand customers will be able to purchase copies of the bicentennial edition at 15 cents. Casual customers will be charged $1 per copy.

After supplies of the bicentennial edition have been exhausted at the news stands, Fayette County area residents must purchase the edition at the Record-Herald business office.

Record-Herald subscribers are asked to be patient Saturday as delivery of the five-section edition may be a little later than normal. Arrangements are being made this week to assist city and rural delivery personnel.

The bicentennial edition will be the second largest single newspaper ever published in Fayette County. The largest was a 104-page edition published during the sesquicentennial celebration here in 1960.

Four 20-page sections devoted exclusively to the history of early Fayette County and Washington C.H. comprise the special bicentennial edition.

State's control board nixes welfare request

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More information has been requested by the controlling board on a welfare department request that would mean lower state reimbursements for Ohio's more than 1,000 nursing homes.

The seven-member panel balked Monday 7-0 when told by a welfare official it is not yet known whether $15 million in envisioned cuts would have any effect on a pending 12 per cent reduction in payments to Ohio's 800,000 Aid to Dependent Children recipients.

William E. Stone, chief of fiscal affairs for the department, also said he could not predict ramifications, if any, on current attempts by the legislature to fund a $130 million to $160 million deficit in the state's troubled Medicaid program.

House Finance Chairman Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, and other board members said they were surprised at the suggested nursing home reductions. Stone said they are being prompted as a result of new federal nursing home regulations that took effect July 1.

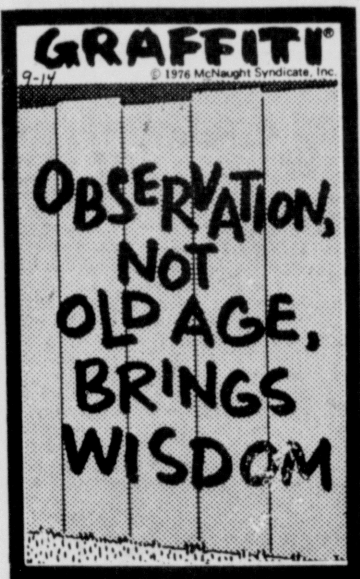

Shoemaker, whose House committee currently is studying the intertwined welfare problems, said he wants officials to appear before his panel this week to explain the federal rules. "This is the first I've heard about this," said the chairman.

Under the rules, which Ohio must adhere to by Jan. 1, 1978, or face possible loss of federal nursing home funds, cuts in state reimbursements would total about $2.30 a day per patient.

Average daily payments now are $23-$25 for skilled care homes and $18-$21 for intermediate care facilities.

Stone said the savings would be about $15 million a year, but would total only about three-fourths that amount if implemented Oct. 1, as suggested, and in effect for only the last nine months of this fiscal year ending next June 30.

Carter backs Ford on Viet issue

By DAVE RILEY

Associated Press Writer

Jimmy Carter agrees with President Ford's refusal to allow Vietnam to join the United Nations and says the men appointed to the Supreme Court by Ford and Richard Nixon are doing a good job.

Those stands apparently were part of an effort by the Carter campaign to put a more conservative foot forward in the second week of the candidate's travels in search of votes. But that didn't slow down Carter's criticism of Ford's leadership.

Carter began the day in the South, then chased the sun across the country, ending his day in Arizona.

For Ford, the second week of the campaign began like the first week — with the President studiously remaining away from the campaign trail.

Although he was not seeing any potential voters, plenty of them were seeing him as he signed bills at ceremonies designed to put him before the television cameras and emphasizing his White House residency.

Ford, who has left the White House only once since the campaign season began on Labor Day, plans to leave Washington on Wednesday for a speech at his alma mater, the University of Michigan. He planned to meet with his speech writers today to polish the Michigan address.

After the speech, Ford is to return to the White House and may not leave Washington again all month except for the first of his debates with Carter on Sept. 23 in Philadelphia.

Meanwhile Sens. Bob Dole, the Republican vice presidential candidate, and Walter Mondale, his Democratic counterpart, were crisscrossing the country seeking votes.

Carter, whose own style is to shake as many hands, kiss as many babies and personally touch as many voters as he can reach, groused about Ford's stay-at-home campaign last week, accusing him of hiding in the White House.

But Monday, Carter had kind words for the Supreme Court of Warren Burger, appointed by Nixon, and he said he would have vetoed Vietnam's membership in the U.N., just as Ford did earlier Monday.

"I believe the Burger court is moving back in the proper direction," Carter said in a speech to county officials in Oklahoma. "We went too far and it got so that sincere, honest, dedicated competent law enforcement officers found it almost impossible to comply with all the technicalities that might be raised."

Earlier in the day, Ford had given instructions to William Scranton, U.S. ambassador to the U.N., to veto for the second straight year the Vietnamese application to join the organization. The veto in the Security Council was linked to Hanoi's failure to account for Americans still listed as missing in Vietnam.

Carter, in Phoenix, Ariz., met with about 25 persons whose relatives still are listed as missing in action in Southeast Asia, promising "an all-out effort" to determine the fate of those still missing.

Carter said he also would not move to establish normal relations with Hanoi "until I was convinced personally that the Vietnamese government had done everything humanly possible to provide a complete accounting of our men who are listed as missing in action."

Carter started out the day in Birmingham, Ala., where he got a warm greeting from Gov. George Wallace before telling an audience of businessmen, "I can't recall a single thing that our incumbent President has done in a two-year period to indicate a capacity for leadership."

Meanwhile, Mondale, was getting hot and cold receptions in Florida.

Mondale was roundly cheered at a retirement village at West Palm Beach, Fla., where he promised the elderly residents, "We won't let you down."

He talked about medical care for the aged, Social Security, and about a local practice by developers who steadily increase maintenance costs for retired owners of condominiums.

But Mondale went from there to speak to an organization of Florida businessmen where he was greeted with a sub-zero silence.

For 40 minutes, Mondale talked about Democratic programs to aid small businessmen, but his audience remained unresponsive. He later shrugged off the poor reception, saying, "Tomorrow is another day."

Bob Dole, told a Chamber of Commerce gathering in Lexington, Ky., that by refusing to become partisan in politics, business leaders "let George Meany take over the country."

Beginning his second cross-country trip of the campaign, Dole told the business group that businessmen complain about organized labor but could take lessons in political activity from labor leaders.

"They know how to get the work done. They know how to get people elected," he said. "All the Chamber of Commerce does is have meetings and criticize Congress for doing something."

Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, has endorsed Jimmy Carter.

Later, Dole flew to San Francisco after a stop in Salt Lake City where he met with the leaders of the Mormon Church and spoke to a group of Mormon businessmen.

Mrs. Scott resided in Washington C.H. for a number of years and moved to Brookfield, Wisc. in June. She was a member of the Grace United Methodist Church, the Open Circle Sunday school class, Haney Circle No. 8, the Fayette Garden Club and the Browning Club.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Warren Allen, of Brookfield, Wisc., with whom she made her home; two sisters, Mrs. Esther Brown, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Glenn Forsha, of Cambridge; a brother; several grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held in Brookfield, Wisc., and burial will be in Beverly, Ohio.

Pallbearers for the burial in New Holland Cemetery were Paul and Harold Southworth, John Wilson, Joe Logan, Hobart Niday and John Stewart.

Control board

said he wants nursing home operators to have a chance to give their views on the cuts. He said many already are struggling financially and that "a lot of them are going out of business as it is."

In a related move, Welfare Director Kwegyir Aggrey renewed his request Monday for the legislature to enact an earlier, ill-fated Rhodes Administration proposal which would cut two per cent from the current budgets of most state agencies to help solve the welfare spending dilemma.

It would provide about $58 million to go with federal matching funds which pay as much as 55-60 per cent of most welfare programs. Aggrey reiterated the move would mean there no longer would be a need to cut ADC payments.

Aggrey also called on the legislature to place flat ceilings on amounts the state now reimburses nursing homes, rather than have payments calculated on a "reasonable cost" formula that involves profit allowances and property values.

He wants the same ceilings that were in effect prior to 1975—$21 a day for skilled homes and $17.50 for intermediate care facilities, he said.

In other action, the board:

- Released $360,000 from emergency funds to the personnel board of review to permit hearing of numerous appeals that resulted from Ohio's new employee reclassification system.
- Authorized the power siting commission to enter into two contracts totaling $50,000 to project the state's electrical energy demands through the year 1992.
- One $40,000 contract with Rothey, Bell, and Taub, Inc. Columbus, involves projected capabilities of the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co.; Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co., and Dayton Power and Light Co.
- The second, for $10,000 and with Charles River & Associates, Cambridge, Mass., involves the Ohio Power Co.
- Released $400,000 of a $1.7 million request from the public defender commission to reimburse counties for programs initiated by them under Ohio's new public defender law. The remainder of the request was withheld pending a determination of whether the state auditor's office has to assume state financial responsibility for the program—a point on which the legislation is unclear.
- Allowed the natural resources department to purchase, at a cost of $16,100, slightly more than five acres in Ross County from Ronald L. and Nancy F. Rife for the Great Seal State Park.
- Permitted mental health officials to enter into contracts for professional services at the Toledo Mental Health Center ($18,216), Dayton Mental Health Center ($12,900), and a proposed central food service facility in the Cincinnati area ($21,100).
- Authorized release of $150,000 as the state's share of construction costs of the Scioto County training center for the mentally retarded.
- Released $114,000 for a perimeter security and ward petitioning project at Lima State Hospital.
- Approved department of education expenditure of $88 million for the state's school foundation payments for September; along with $21.7 million to cover vouchers for auxiliary services in various school districts.

The Kokosing Construction Co. started work on the $151,000 project to replace the 45-year-old structure in July.

Croatians facing murder charges

NEW YORK (AP) — Five Croatian nationalists, held on $1 million bail each on air piracy charges after a weekend the pilot called "30 hours of hell," also have been charged with second-degree murder in the bomb death of a policeman.

Federal and local authorities were to meet today to decide who should get first crack at prosecuting the four men and a woman, who used fake bombs to force a New York-to-Chicago Trans World Airlines 727 jet to fly to Paris.

A real bomb they left in a Grand Central Station locker here killed a policeman, who was to be buried today.

Police officials declined to comment Monday on published reports that the hijackers also had been questioned about a still-unsolved bombing last Dec. 29 at LaGuardia airport, where they boarded the TWA flight Friday. The earlier bomb, which killed 12 persons and injured 75, also was planted in a locker.

The hijacking, carried out to gain publicity for the cause of Croatian independence from Yugoslavia, provoked international recriminations on Monday.

The Yugoslav government accused the United States of tolerating anti-Yugoslav terrorists, a charge denied by the State Department in Washington. United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim repeated his pleas for international action "against this kind of threat to international life."

Capt. Richard Carey, 40-year-old pilot of the hijacked plane, criticized the handling of the crisis by French authorities. He said the 55 hostages aboard the plane were in greatest danger while on the ground in Paris.

Noting that he and the other hostages believed all along that the hijackers were carrying real dynamite sticks, he added:

"I would like to have had more support from the French.... I was given an ultimatum that restricted the negotiations."

Blacks off work in South Africa

racial policies. But some of the strikers appeared to be returning to work.

A spokesman for the Johannesburg Chamber of Commerce reported that 70 to 80 per cent of the city's 250,000 black workers stayed home Monday. Some firms reported 70 per cent absenteeism again today, but others said more blacks reported for work than on the previous day.

Transport officials also reported an increase in the number of blacks taking trains and buses from Soweto, the big black township eight miles south of Johannesburg and the home of most of the city's black workers.

The World, Johannesburg's leading black newspaper, reported that two blacks were killed Monday when police opened fire on a group trying to sabotage railway lines in Soweto. Shots and tear gas were also reported fired to break up groups stoning workers as they returned home, and police were on guard at railway stations.

The World said black militants beat up many workers who refused to join the boycott. It reported that police gunfire dispersed crowds standing on street corners in several areas of Soweto Monday night.

Police tried to check the spread of the strike in Alexandra township north of Johannesburg with a house-to-house sweep. The World said police rounded up 900 "agitators" who were staying home from work or school.

It was the second three-day work boycott called in the Johannesburg area in less than a month. The first strike last month ignited street fighting in Soweto in which 35 blacks were killed. This time, the Soweto Students Representative Council (SSRC) and other organizers of the strike appealed for nonviolence.

At least 336 persons, ail but three of them black or persons of mixed race called colodreds, have been killed in three months of antigovernment rioting. Some 280 persons are believed to have been arrested under the security laws' detention-without-trial provisions.

The new massive protest against South Africa's apartheid policies of racial segregation came as the leader of Rhodesia's white-supremacist government, Prime Minister Ian Smith, arrived in Pretoria, the South African capital 30 miles north of Johannesburg, for talks with South African Prime Minister John Vorster.

Vorster and Smith were discussing Vorster's meeting last week in Switzerland with U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. Kissinger hopes Vorster will pressure Smith into agreeing to black majority rule in Rhodesia, but the South African leader said in a speech Monday, "We give advice, and we point out possible alternatives, but we do not prescribe."

Kissinger is due in Pretoria Friday. A senior American official in his party said he would meet with Smith only if the Rhodesian showed clear signs of accepting black rule for his country.

Stocks take sharp drop

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices fell sharply today as a strike loomed against Ford Motor Co.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dropped nearly 5 points in the early going, and losers took a 2-1 lead over gainers in the over-all count of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The strike deadline was midnight tonight in contract talks between Ford and the United Auto Workers. On Monday, UAW President Leonard Woodcock said chances for an agreement before that time were "1 in 100."

Analysts reported concern among investors that a strike, especially a lengthy one, would pose problems for the economic recovery, which is already seen by many Wall Streeters as fragile.

Today's early prices included Westinghouse, down ¾ at 17½; Fluor, off ¼ at 41½, and International Telephone, ¾ lower at 31½.

Ford shares dropped ¾ to 55½, and other auto issues also were fractionally lower.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average lost 5.07 to 983.29.

Declines outpaced advances by about an 8-7 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index gave up .16 to 55.70.

Big Board volume came to 16.10 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .39 at 102.64.

Policeman faces charge

CINCINNATI (AP) — Acting Cincinnati Police Chief Myron Leistler said departmental charges are being prepared against Specialist Roger Hummendorf, 38, who pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of obstruction of justice after the prosecution agreed to drop three bribery indictments.

Hummendorf was fined $100 and courts costs for the misdemeanor by Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge William S. Mathews following a four-hour plea bargaining session.

Hummendorf, one of eight Cincinnati officers indicted by a special grand jury looking into police wrongdoing last December, was accused of procuring prostitutes for high ranking police officials on three occasions.

The indictments said Hummendorf's agreement with cafe operators who provided the women to ignore possible law violations constituted bribery.

Prayer breakfast draws 73 persons

A total of 73 teens and teachers gathered at the South Side Church of Christ for the first teen prayer breakfast of the year Tuesday morning. The prayer breakfast began in the fall of 1969 with 19 present.

The Rev. Charles J. Richmond closed the time of meditation with thoughts on the Lord's Prayer. Jowanda Vernon and Melanie McArthur, both sophomores at Washington Senior High School, led the singing accompanied by Marilyn Creamer, a senior at Miami Trace High School. Jon Creamer, a teacher at Washington Senior High School, offered a prayer of thanks for the food. Following the breakfast of French toast and milk, Eddie Cottrell, a senior at Washington Senior High School, spoke on "Teen Age Image". He used Bible examples of Danie, three men in the fiery furnace and David to show the need of making up our mind to serve God. Gary Hill, a senior at Washington Senior High School, closed the session with prayer.

The next teen prayer breakfast will be Tuesday, September 21 at 6:45 a.m. All teens, grades 9 through 12, are invited.

Excluded by the system

The somewhat quixotic presidential race being staged by Eugene J. McCarthy has not gained him much of a national hearing. This in itself has perforce become one of his main campaign themes: he has been raising persistent questions about the wisdom of a two-party system which tends to exclude candidates outside that system from the political dialogue on a national scale.

McCarthy carries his argument to extremes, perhaps to attract more attention. "I can anticipate a time," he remarked the other day, "when Democrats and Republicans will be the only ones allowed even to vote in presidential elections, with independents effectively excluded."

As noted, an extreme view. Yet is it wholly unsupported by events?

The two-party system serves the country pretty well. But is democracy served by shunting aside other presidential candidates as if they did not exist, in effect denying them a broad hearing because they are outside the system?

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

The senator from New York?

Tuesday, Sept. 14, the Democratic voters of New York state will go to the polls to make a momentous decision. If you have been following the press, you may suspect they are choosing their candidate for Mayor of Tel Aviv. Actually the question before the electorate is whether the Democrats want to run a serious campaign against the Conservative-Republican incumbent James Buckley - or let this genial gentleman, who is somewhere to the right of Barry Goldwater, return to Washington by default for another six years.

For the benefit of those who tuned in late, there are five contestants in the Democratic primary. First, the president of New York's City Council, Paul O'Dwyer, an extremely nice old pol whose main function in this campaign has been to raise a standard to which those who do not want to fight can rally. Then there are the two leading candidates, Pat Moynihan and Bella Abzug, whose slugging match has provided O'Dwyer with recruits. And add two strays, Ramsey Clark and someone named Abraham Hirschfeld, who runs for office to share his wealth.

The reason an observer sometimes suspects the locale is Tel Aviv turns out to be statistical. Although the Jewish population of New York state is not all that big (about 20 per cent) most Jews are Democrats and dedicated voters. It is estimated that between 40 and 50 per cent of the turnout in Democratic primaries is Jewish and, in overwhelming numbers, they are strong supporters of Israel.

Thus there has been heavy concentration on Moynihan and Abzug's positions on American policy in the Middle East. Moynihan has argued that Abzug has consistently voted in the House in a fashion undermining any effective support for the Jewish state (she has never voted for a defense appropriation). Abzug in reply has, in essence, suggested that she and Golda Meir grew up in the same kibbutz and together launched Israel. Moreover, she bellows, Moynihan is a professional placeman who was even willing to work for Nixon.

Any politician goes hunting where the ducks are, but frankly I think the emphasis on Israel is overdone. Abzug's ambivalence on Israel is common knowledge to any who have closely followed her career. In 1967, for example, the New Politics crowd held a national convention at which, among other notable pronouncements, Israel was condemned as an imperialist aggressor. A number of Jewish New Left militants repudiated this position - Abzug, a delegate from Women's Strike for Peace, said nothing. Jack Newfield of the Village Voice, not one of my favorite ideologues, but an accurate reporter, heard her in 1970 oppose sending Phantoms to Israel. Maybe she is correct in saying she was a Zionist at age 11, but something may have happened at 12.

My case against Abzug is not that she is covertly anti-Israel, but rather that her record displays consistent overt anti-Americanism. The funds in the Defense budgets for Israel were trivial - the funds for defending the United States massive. No one in his or her right mind will approve all the Pentagon's projects. I think the B-1 bomber and the huge Nimitz-class nuclear-powered carriers are expendable, but what responsible American politician would vote against the whole budget - year in, year out - because of a few such items? Only, I submit, one who is prepared to leave us naked in the face of our enemies. (Yes, Bella, there are wolves in the world.)

Now Pat Moynihan did, of course, work for Nixon. But the question is: What did he do? The answer: He devoted himself to reforming our appalling welfare system along with seemed to most observers eminently liberal and compassionate lines. True, the welfare bureaucracy was put off by his insistence that money go to the poor and not to a flourishing administrative fungus. Professional blacks were also annoyed when he suggested they promote the interests of their unemployed constituents instead of their own political fortunes. But plain talk, not patronization, is the opposite of racism. In short, Moynihan's role in the Nixon Administration was wholly honorable.

Which brings us back to the question of Senator James Buckley. If New York Democrats want to replace him in November - when the electorate will be radically different from that in the Democratic primary - they have only one viable contender: Moynihan. If they send forth Abzug, Buckley can take a trip to the West Indies and simply ensure that Bella gets plenty of TV exposure.

Ohio University dean selected

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Gerald Silver, acting dean of Samuel J. Silberman College of Business Administration, Fairleigh Dickinson University, has been appointed dean of the College of Business Administration at Ohio University.

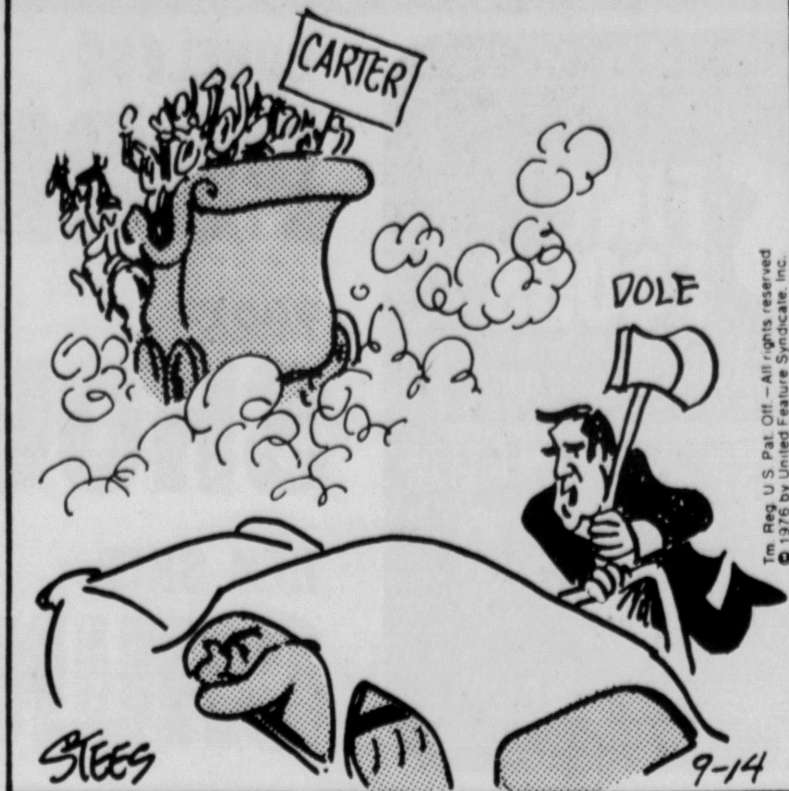

OU Provost Neil Bucklew said Silver, 37, will assume the post immediately. He succeeds Dr. John Peterson, who resigned to join the economics faculty.

Governor pays for hunting flub

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Daniel Walker says "I've been had and I'm mad," but still paid a $100 fine for violating a federal game regulation prohibiting use of bait to hunt doves. "I am paying under protest," Walker said in a note submitted with his check. "A regulation (not a law) which penalizes even when there is no knowledge is contrary to American tradition."

Walker was cited after game personnel discovered the governor and six other persons hunting mourning doves Sept. 1 near Bath.

Motorcade planned for Ford

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Another presidential motorcade may highlight President Ford's campaign efforts in Ohio—this one across northern Ohio and through the state's Democratic strongholds.

Keith McNamara of Columbus, who heads the GO presidential campaign in Ohio, said tentative plans call for the motorcade to run between Ashtabula and Toledo, sometime during October.

Stops are anticipated in the industrial regions where Democratic registration by far exceeds the GOP—including Cleveland where Democrats prevail by about 4-1.

The strategy is in line with the President's efforts to capture Democratic and independent votes he will need to pull off a victory in Ohio and throughout the nation Nov. 2.

In this year's primary, McNamara and other campaign planners sent Ford on a motorcade that started in heavily Republican Cincinnati and wound its way northward to Toledo, through rural and urban areas where challenger Ronald Reagan was feared to have made significant inroads.

State Republican leaders who had endorsed Ford over Reagan credited the motorcade with helping Ford sweep 91 of Ohio's 97 delegates to the party's national convention.

With the GOP vote now believed mostly solidified, the leaders believe Ford must work to attract non-

Republicans to nail down the state's crucial 25 electoral votes.

McNamara also wants a repeat of another primary campaign venture he believes added to Ford's strength in Ohio—a noontime rally at the Statehouse. That event also would probably come in October, since current plans call for the President to spend most of September in Washington enhancing his image as a working president.

Ford's running mate, Sen. Robert Dole, along with members of the Ford family and cabinet members, are expected to visit Ohio several times.

Dole, whose agricultural background as a native of Kansas should help the ticket with Ohio farmers, will be used heavily in rural areas to seek additional support and keep traditional Republican voters in line there, McNamara said.

As usual, the Republicans will utilize their superior organization in Ohio to get out the vote. It will include county organizations and a network on 19 telephone banks throughout the state.

McNamara has about $100,000 budgeted for media advertising—all that could be allocated from the $10 million nationwide total allocated for that purpose by the Ford organization.

In 1820 Ohio ranked 12th among the states in the number (4,723) of free Negroes, but in 1850 it held 6th place with 25,279.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Blames Abby for losing her man

DEAR ABBY: I know you'll never print this, but I just want you to know that your advice has ruined one life. Mine.

Ten years ago I was going with Paul, a guy I really loved. He wanted me to go all the way with him, and I really wanted to, but I had it drummed into me that I should save myself for marriage, so I wrote to you for advice. You told me that if I lost Paul because I wouldn't give in, he wasn't worth having.

Well, Paul met another girl who gave him what he wanted, and he married her. They've been married for eight years and have a great marriage.

If I had given in to Paul, he'd have married me instead. I'm married to a nice guy, but I still love Paul and always will. I wish I hadn't taken your advice. Thanks for nothing.

SORRY

DEAR ABBY: When a girl asks me if she should go all the way, I advise her against it on theory that she lacks the maturity to handle that kind of relationship, or she wouldn't be asking. P.S.: How do you know how "great" Paul's marriage is? And how can you be sure he would have married you had you given in?

DEAR ABBY: I am a diabetic and should not have sugar. My problem is how to stay on my restricted diet and still enjoy some kind of social life. I belong to a club and a church circle, and the refreshments they serve are loaded with sugar. I've been eating the refreshments, even though I know I shouldn't, because I don't want to advertise the fact that I'm diabetic, and I feel awkward refusing refreshments while everyone else is eating.

I don't know how to handle this situation. I suppose the simplest solution would be to stay away from the meetings, but isn't there another answer?

DIABETIC

DEAR DIABETIC: Your problem is being embarrassed about a condition over which you have no control. You need not "advertise" it, but you could let your hostess know in advance that you can't tolerate sugar. You are foolish to hide it, and even more foolish to go off your diet and upset your sugar level.

DEAR ABBY: I was amused to see in your column the letter from "TRAVELIN' MAN" who said that years ago, bums and drifters would stop by the back door of the undertaker's to try on used choppers for size. You replied, "Recycled dentures? You're puttin' me on!"

Abby, he was not puttin' you on. Back in the 30s, there was a general merchandise store in Barnhart, Mo., (20 miles south of St. Louis,) that featured a washtub full of used dentures for sale. People would come in and try them on for size-germs and all.

The store has since burned down, but I can vouch for the fact that there was such a place.

Lawn wedding at Merritt home on grandparent's anniversary

The spacious yard of the lovely country home of Mr. and Mrs. Damon E. Merritt, 6601 White Oak Rd., Bloomingburg, was the setting for the marriage of their son, Keith W. to Mrs. Sandra K. Payton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Penwell, 3395 St. Rt. 41-NW, on Sunday, Sept. 12th. The date chosen was the 65th anniversary of the marriage of the groom's paternal grandparents, Mr. John E. Merritt and the late Mrs. Merritt.

The marriage was solemnized before an altar covered with damask upon which rested a Bible opened to 1 Corinthians 13, which was flanked by hurricane lamps containing lighted powder blue tapers. A large white milk glass vase of wine snapdragons, plumed coxcomb, white daisies and baby breath spirea graced the altar. The Rev. Eugene Frazer, superintendent of the Cincinnati District of the United Methodist Church, officiated at the sunset ceremony.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was lovely in a full-length gown of blue, yellow, orchid and green floral nylon jersey. It was styled with empire waist, scoop neckline, tapered long sleeves and an A-line skirt. The bodice was accented with rhinestones and the neckline, waistline and sleeves were enhanced with white lace. She wore a white picture hat with ribbons of the same material as her gown on it.

She carried a nosegay of blue daisies centered with a single yellow rose with matching streamers. Her only jewelry was a gold necklace centered with an opal. The groom wore a powdre blue suit with a shirt matching the bridal gown. The gown and shirt were fashioned by the groom's mother.

Miss Toni Penwell, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She was attired in a pale green organdy floor length gown with stripes of flocked daisies. It was fashioned with a high neckline, long sleeves, a green smocked midriff, all edged with self ruffles. The skirt ended with a deep flounce. She carried a nosegay of daisies the colors of the bride's gown with the multi-colored streamers. The bride's brother, Kenneth J. Penwell, served as best man.

The mother of the bride chose a floor-length gown fashioned with a sleeveless top of black knit with a mandarin collar and full skirt of multi-colored abstract print of shagbark material. She complemented her gown with black accessories.

The groom's mother wore a sleeveless gown of red and white knit fashioned with a A-line floor length skirt, inverted V-waistline and horseshoe collar studded with rhinestones. Her ensemble was completed with white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of creamy white rosebuds.

The reception was held in the large family room of the Merritt home. A three-tiered wedding cake, frosted in colors matching the wedding gown and topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served from a table covered with a silver and white wedding cloth. A white wedding bell, flanked by lighted powder blue tapers surrounded by pink, blue and lavender bachelor buttons, centered the table which had all crystal appointments. The cake was served by Mrs. Eugene Frazer and the punch was served by Mrs. Norman Rinehart.

The gifts were arrayed on a table covered with an ecru lace cloth and centered with a milk glass vase containing red and gold plumed coxcomb. Several vases of mixed garden flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the home. All the decorative flowers were from the garden of Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Belt.

Members of the immediate families present in addition to the parents were Sean and Chris Payton sons of the bride, Beth and Eddie Merritt, sister and brother of the groom, along with Mr. John E. Merritt, his grandfather, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Penwell and daughters, Lisa and Lori, Mr. Bill Penwell, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rinehart and Sp. 4 and Mrs. James Shasteen of Clarksville, Tenn. and Mrs. Frazer of Cincinnati.

The bride attended Washington School. Her husband is a graduate of Miami Trace High School and attended Wilmington College. He has just completed six years of service with Ohio National Guard with a rank of Sergeant. He is employed at Avoset Corporation.

The newlyweds are making their home at 330 W. Oak St.

Altrusa Club Conference set Oct. 8, 9 and 10

The Altrusa Club met recently for its September business meeting. The District Five Conference was the first topic of discussion. President Mrs. Gail Mershon reminded members that the conference will be held in Dearborn, Michigan on October 8, 9, and 10. Mrs. Madeline Ebert is to be the delegate with Mrs. Susan Link and Miss Noita Craycraft as alternates.

Much appreciation and praise was directed to member Mrs. Link for her outstanding program given the previous meeting. Mrs. Link showed slides and made a commentary on Bicentennial history with special emphasis on the development of Ohio and of the communication industry. This program was noted by all members as one of the club's best programs.

Club members voted to continue providing programs for one day each month for the Senior Nutrition Group. It was, also, voted upon to make the Preschool Children's Christmas Party an annual event.

Miss Helen Slavens gave the Altrusa Accent for the evening. Quotes of some recipients of Altrusa International's Grants-in-Aid program were given, along with reports pertaining as to Altrusans' humanitarian action in behalf of their earthquake-displaced people.

The next meeting will be to celebrate the club's Charter Night. A special program has been planned and the festivities will be held at Mrs. Linda Purcell's home with Miss Helen Slavens as chairman.

Teachers marry in Marietta

First Baptist Church in Marietta was the setting Aug. 14 for the marriage of Miss Pamela Jean Heiney daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Heiney, Marietta, and Mr. Christopher Waldrep, son of Dr. and Mrs. Reef V. Waldrep of Macomb, Ill.

The Rev. Donald Shuler officiated for the open church double-ring ceremony at 2:30 p.m. before an altar with a white unity candle surrounded by greenery and small white mums on the Communion table. Arrangements of large white pompons, along with blue baby breath and greenery adorned the silver candelabra. Kentia palms were placed on both sides of the Communion table.

Wedding selections were presented by Mrs. Jo Martin, vocalist, and Mrs. Elizabeth Cummins, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length polyester organza gown featuring a high neckline trimmed in Venise lace appliques on the empire bodice. The A-line skirt extended into a chapel length train trimmed in the matching lace. Her capulet headpiece of Venise lace held a finger tip veil of white illusion. She carried a star bouquet of stephanotis and leather leaf fern with white satin streamers.

Maid of honor Miss Essie Hall of Indianapolis, Ind. wore a gown of blue dacon polyester organza gown with high neckline and full sheer sleeves trimmed in white flower Alencon lace. The gathered cummerbund at the waist fell into two panels which flowed down the back. The full skirt was encircled by a matching ruffle trimmed in lace. She carried a single white carnation.

Bridemaids Dr. Karen Kleiman of Minneapolis, Minn., and Mrs. Deborah Canter of Cincinnati, were dressed like the maid of honor. They, too, carried single carnations.

Little Angela Cheesman was the flower girl, and Patrick Decker the ringbearer. Both are cousins of the bride.

Dr. Waldrep served as best man for his son. Groomsmen were Mr. Doug Yates, cousin of the groom, and Ronald Heiney, brother of the bride.

Hostesses for the reception held at First Baptist in Church in Marietta were Mrs. Cheryl Decker, Mrs. Diane Cheesman, Miss Daneen Decker and Miss Denise Decker.

The bride's table feathered a four-tiered wedding cake on pedestals and surrounded by four heart-shaped cakes at the base. The cake was decorated with small hearts formed from tiny blue flowerlets made of frosting. Candles and flower arrangements completed the setting.

The new bride, a graduate of Marietta College, formerly taught Spanish I and IV at Washington Senior High School. Her husband, is an Art teacher at Washington Senior High School. He received a Bachelor of Science degree from Eastern Illinois University and Master's degree from Perdue University.

The couple is residing in Washington C.H.

Buckeyes in 2nd one point out

Michigan tops college poll

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — "Where do you think you should be ranked this week?" Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler was asked.

"We should be 10th," he said Monday at his regular news conference. "But don't drop us out of the Top Ten."

Michigan isn't 10th. It's No. 1, despite an uncharacteristically poor defensive showing Saturday when the Wolverines — ranked No. 2 in the preseason poll — beat Big Ten rival Wisconsin, 40-27.

They gave up 426 yards to the Badgers, the most ever against a Michigan team in Schembechler's eight years at the school.

Nebraska, the top team in The Associated Press preseason listing, was tied 6-6 by Louisiana State and fell to eighth in this week's initial regular poll of the college season.

Who's second?

Why, none other than Michigan's archrival, Ohio State — by a mere point.

The Wolverines, who collected 28 of the 61 first-place votes, totalled 1,077 points in the vote of sports writers and broadcasters. The Buckeyes had 18 firsts and 1,076 points of the maximum of 1,220.

"I don't care one way or another," Schembechler said, when pressed about his feelings on the poll. "What difference does it make after one game? At the end of the season, that's a different story."

The Wolverines have finished in the Top Ten in each of Schembechler's seven seasons since he moved over from Miami of Ohio. No other team in the nation has finished in the top 10 in each of the past seven years.

Who did Schembechler figure might be No. 1 in this week's poll?

"Probably Ohio State," he said.

The Buckeyes trounced Michigan State 49-21.

Pittsburgh, which crushed Notre Dame 31-10, was third in the poll with nine first-place votes and 892 points. Oklahoma got four firsts and 865 points for fourth, while UCLA got the other two first-place votes and wound up fifth with 731 points.

Rounding out the Top Ten are Missouri — unranked in the preseason before clubbing Southern California 46-25, Penn State, Nebraska, Georgia and Maryland.

In the second 10 are Texas A&M, Arkansas, Kansas, Alabama, Boston College, Louisiana State, North Carolina, Arizona State, Texas and Mississippi.

Blue Lion golfers keep mark perfect

GREENFIELD — The Washington Senior High School golf team topped Greenfield McClain Monday at Buckeye Hills Country Club to up its season record to 2-0. Both wins have been against league foes.

Junior Gary Fisher took medalist honors for the Blue Lions with a 41 while John Moore, Jeff Scott, Willie Hatfield and Greg Tillet all shot 44's to give Washington C.H. a 173 to 185 win.

Greenfield was led by senior Kevin McNeil with a 41. A 45, 47 and 52 rounded out the McClain scores.

Wilmington, the South Central Ohio League preseason favorites, will host the Blue Lions Wednesday. The Hurricane linksters were league co-champions with Circleville last year and they return three of their top five golfers.

The Blue Lions scheduled match last week with Unioto was postponed because of rain.

Boosters to meet

The Washington C.H. Blue Lion Athletic Booster Club will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the high school. Game films of the Blue Lion-Wellston game will be shown at the meeting.

Elliott jumps to SCOL scoring lead

On the strength of a four-touchdown performance in the season opener, Washington C.H. tailback Jeff Elliott has taken a commanding lead in the South Central Ohio League scoring race.

The speedy junior scored on a 58-yard punt return, runs of 67 and 31 yards from scrimmage, and a 95-yard romp with a foiled punt attempt.

His performance helped destroy Wellston, 33-15, Friday night and he has an excellent shot of surpassing his 54-point total last year which led the Blue Lion offense.

Miami Trace's talented quarterback Art Schlichter is second on the early scoring list with 12 points. He scored on similar two-yard runs while directing the Panthers to a 46-8 opening win over Springfield Northeastern.

Schlichter's teammates Bill Hanners and Dan Gifford are tied for third with Wilmington quarterback Gay Williams. All three players have eight points apiece.

Hanners scored on a 15-yard pass from Shane Riley and picked up a two-point conversion on a pass from Schlichter. Gifford scored on a nine-yard run and a conversion run while Williams went in from seven yards out and kicked two extra points.

Eleven players are tied for fourth with one touchdown apiece. Fayette County players include Terry Wilson of Washington C.H. along with Bill Warnock, David Creamer, and David Potter of Miami Trace.

Wilson scored on a five-yard pass from quarterback Mark Heiny while Warnock, Creamer and Potter scored on runs. The longest being a 15-yard burst by Potter in the late going of Friday's game.

Rounding out the top scores list are Tyler Woods and Keith Ford of Hillsboro, Frank Merrill and Tom McGuire of Circleville, Jesse Long and Grant Bartee of Madison Plains, and Bruce McKee of Wilmington. No player from Greenfield McClain, a shutout victim of Westerville North, are on the list.

Hillsboro edged New Richmond, 13-12, in the season opener with Woods scoring first on a 36-yard quarterback keeper. Ford iced the game with a 65-yard punt return in the fourth quarter.

Frank Merrill scored on a one-yard dive to cap a 162-yard rushing performance in Circleville's loss to Chillicothe. McGuire scored on a six-yard pass from junior quarterback Brad Allison.

Last season Madison Plains failed to score a touchdown until the fifth game of the year. This season Jesse Long scored on the second play from scrimmage rambling 60 yards for a score against Westfall. Grant Bartee gave the Golden Eagles another touchdown in the second quarter on a short run as Madison Plains edged to a 13-12 win.

Only Elliott, Schlichter and Williams were on last year's final top ten scorers list at the end of the season which was headed by Circleville's Biff Bumgarner with 108 points. Schlichter had 62, Elliott 56 and the versatile Williams had 73 with the help of four field goals, four pass interception returns for touchdowns and numerous extra-point kicks.

Dolphins beat Bills despite return of O. J. Simpson

BUFFALO (AP) — The night belonged to Miami's Norm Bulaich and Bob Griese. Part of it belonged to Buffalo's O.J. Simpson.

It was Bulaich and Griese and the rest of the Miami gang who carried the Dolphins to a 30-21 victory over the Buffalo Bills Monday night in a National Football League season-opening game.

And it was Simpson, their great running back, playing only a bit more than 24 hours after rejoining the Bills, who electrified the crowd of 77,683 with his twisting and speed after catching a fourth-quarter pass for a 43-yard gain.

The game was costly for Buffalo.

Dayton team wins Eyman tourney

Career Academy of Dayton used a potent home-run attack to win the weekend softball tournament at Eyman Park which was sponsored by the Harris Auction basketball team.

The Dayton team blasted out 30 homers during the double-elimination tournament and came through the losers' bracket to top Mi-De Trophy of Washington C.H. in two final games.

Mi-De, the winners' bracket champs, downed Colonial Stair, 17-10, to ad-

Fullback Jim Braxton, whose blocks helped Simpson gain much of his yardage the last five seasons, is finished for the year.

Braxton was cut down on the second play of the game — one nullified by a Miami offside — and suffered torn ligaments in his right knee. He was scheduled for surgery today.

Miami Coach Don Shula, who said Sunday that he felt Simpson would return to Buffalo, described Simpson's brief appearance thus:

"What a hell of a job he did for just suiting up yesterday. Saban waited all the way until the second play to send him in."

vance undefeated to the finals. Career Academy topped Colonial in the losers' bracket finals after losing its first game of the tournament.

In the finals, the Dayton team beat Me-De, 14-8 and 15-11.

Tim Haley of Career Academy won the home run trophy at the tourney.

Six Mi-De players hit over .500 while finishing second in the tournament. The players were Rick Bell, Dennis Holloway, Mike Henry, Keith Guthrie, Rick Bartriff and Mike Douds.

fastballs that jammed the hitter."

The result of all this muscle is that the Phillies and Pirates each have 20 games remaining, and Philadelphia holds a five-game bulge.

Schmidt slammed his first homer and 34th of the season in the first inning and the Phillies were on their way to their fifth victory in 19 games. His solo homer in the fifth, his 35th, gave him the major league lead by one over the Mets' Dave Kingman.

The Mets struck for all five runs in the seventh inning. Bud Harrelson and Bruce Boischlair each knocked in a run with singles. Felix Millan's single drove in two more and John Milner doubled home the final run.

With a good series against the Minnesota Twins behind him, Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog thought he had the American League West title all wrapped up.

But things suddenly took a turn for the worse Monday night when the Royals dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the Chicago White Sox, 4-3 and 5-4.

The two losses cut Kansas City's lead to four games over the Oakland A's, whose game against Minnesota Monday night was rained out.

"It looks like it's going to boil down to the six games we have left with Oakland," Herzog said. "We have to beat them. That's all there is to it."

Chicago won both contests in the eighth inning and got complete games from starters Chris Knapp, 3-1, and Ken Brett, 10-9, who had to face brother George, Kansas City's third baseman, for the first time ever during the regular season.

Kevin Bell's sacrifice fly in the eighth inning won the opener, and Jim Spencer smashed a three-run homer in the eighth for the nightcap victory.

"Those guys (the White Sox) played like world champions," Herzog said. "We've got to come up with a big win, something to give us a spark. We didn't play poorly tonight. They just came up with the big hits."

George Brett, hitting .338 and battling teammate Hal McRae (.340) all season for the AL batting title, faced his brother five times in the second game, got two singles and scored a run.

But he said there was no special emphasis placed on their first meeting. "The games meant so much tonight that the other things really didn't matter," George said.

Cards 4, Cubs 3
Bob Forsch scattered 11 hits for the complete-game victory. And his hitting made the difference.

The Cards scored their fourth run in the eighth off Darold Knowles on two walks and a double by Forsch. That run proved decisive when the Cubs closed to 4-3 in the ninth on RBI singles by Joe Wallis and Bill Madlock.

Braves 5-3, Dodgers 1-4
Pinch-hit singles by Reggie Smith and Manny Mota highlighted a four-run sixth inning that gave Los Angeles a split of its doubleheader with Atlanta.

In the opener, Rod Gilbreath drove home the decisive runs with a two-run double in the seventh and Frank LaCorte threw a five-hitter for his first complete game of the season.

Giants 3, Padres 2
Marty Perez doubled home Dave Rader in the 10th inning for his third RBI of the game, giving San Francisco its victory over San Diego.

Padres right-hander Tom Griffin, who had a no-hitter going through seven innings, lost the no-hitter and his shutout in the eighth. Ken Reitz stroked a leadoff single and Perez laced two-run single.

Tigers 3, Yanks 1
Rusty Staub and Willie Horton hit successive sixth-inning homers and Detroit starter Jim Crawford picked up his first victory in seven decisions with the help of reliever John Hiller. It was Hiller's 13th save.

The loss, coupled with Baltimore's triumph, cut New York's lead in the American League East to 9½ games.

Orioles 5, Brewers 3
Tony Muser, inserted as a defensive replacement in the ninth inning, smacked a two-run homer in the 10th that boosted the Orioles past Milwaukee. Reggie Jackson had doubled in front of Muser, who hadn't homered since the 1974 season.

Fred Holsworth got his fourth victory without a loss, while Brewer reliever Bill Castro, 4-5, took the loss.

Indians 8, Red Sox 3
Rico Carty, Cleveland's 36-year-old designated hitter, led a 13-hit Cleveland attack with two doubles, two singles and an RBI as the Indians battered the Red Sox.

Dennis Eckersley, 11-12, was the winner with relief help from Dave LaRoche.

Angels 6, Rangers 2
Joe Hoerner walked home Andy Etchebarren in the 14th inning for the go-ahead run, and the Angels exploded four runs to down the Rangers.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — News specials tend to get low ratings. But I think a CBS special tonight will do the opposite, even though it'll air while the much-publicized Bob Dylan is blowin' in the wind on NBC.
"Rescue at Entebbe" is the name of the CBS News piece.
It's about the daring July 4 rescue by Israeli commandoes of over 100 persons held hostage at Uganda's Entebbe Airport by the Palestinian terrorists who hijacked their Tel Aviv-to-Paris jetliner after the plane made a refueling stop in Greece.
An advance look at the hour-long show wasn't possible before deadline time because the program still was being edited.
But its script shows a fascinating, step-by-step recounting of the hijacking, the agonizing decision by Israel to make the rescue raid even though hostages might be killed, the planning that went into the raid and they way Israeli pilots and soldiers brought it off.
There are no new revelations in "Rescue." Its material has been amply reported before.
But the show is worthwhile in that it puts into concise, chronological form the complex details of the dramatic story that took eight days to come to a startling, headline-making ending.
In the show, newsman Tom Fenton gives general background about the hijacking, the terrorists' demands, their threats to kill Israeli hostages and what followed.
The specifics are retold in fresh, consistently interesting interviews with the Israeli principals—hostages, government leaders who opted for the midnight raid at Entebbe, the military leaders who planned it and some of the men who flew 2,500 miles from Israel to execute it.
CBS wasn't allowed into Uganda to interview that nation's erratic chief, Gen. Idi Amin, whom Israel accused of aiding the terrorists.
So it used BBC film in which Amin denied that his soldiers—more than 20 of them were killed by the Israelis during the raid—helped the terrorist at Entebbe. The hostages CBS interviewed said otherwise.

Curiously, the show doesn't go into Uganda's claim that Israel violated international law by violating Ugandan territory—or that Israel responded that the law gives it the right to protect its nationals when a local government can't.
But then, the program's focus is on the Entebbe operation, not the questions the raid raises in international law.

Callaghan visits Canadian farm

REGINA, Canada (AP) — British Prime Minister James Callaghan and his wife visited a wheat farm and dined with Saskatchewan Premier Allan Blakeney on the second day of their Canadian tour.
The couple's visit was planned as a private tour before Callaghan replaced Harold Wilson as British Labor party leader and prime minister five months ago, Blakeney said.
The Callaghans visited the grain farm of George and Margaret Roth about 10 miles north of Regina on Monday and attended a private luncheon with the Roths.

Sinatra blocks 2 newspapers

STATELINE, Nev. (AP) — Entertainer Frank Sinatra will not reverse a decision barring representatives of the Reno Evening Gazette and Nevada State Journal from his supper club shows here.
Mark Curtis, public relations chief for Harrah's, said Monday that Sinatra's stand is probably irreversible.
"During this engagement I am sure that the directive is a standing thing," Curtis said.
Sinatra, annoyed by a Friday newspaper story outlining his life and disputes with Nevada gaming authorities, refused to perform if anyone from the jointly owned newspapers was in attendance.

Of several thousand persons listed in the city directory of Cincinnati in 1825, over 20 per cent were natives of Pennsylvania, with New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, Ireland, Maryland, Connecticut and Virginia ranking next in the order named as places of nativity of the inhabitants. In 1830, the German element, later to be extremely important in development of the city, was just beginning to establish itself in appreciable numbers. — AP

Realistic environmental controls benefit everyone.

DP&L's power plants—all of them—have a new look. Dust and fly ash emissions are almost nonexistent because of the installation of high-efficiency precipitators.
DP&L has already spent $45 million—about $110 for every electric customer—on environmental controls. Eventually of course, you, our customer, will incur these costs. Pollution control equipment already in place, along with associated financing and operating costs, will add about 10% to the price you pay for electricity.

Proposed controls could add 35% to 40% to electric bills

During the next five years, DP&L will be required to spend at least $187 million more for various environmental protection measures. That means an additional $470 per customer.

In addition: The total could be much, much higher if certain proposed new environmental standards are adopted. These alone would cause electric rates to go up an additional 35 to 40%.

When pollution control regulations are unreasonable, everyone pays the penalty.

The need for even more restrictive environmental regulations is being questioned by qualified people in government and industry, as well as many representing consumer interests. The high cost of complying with such regulations is being carefully examined in relation to the benefits which they might realistically be expected to achieve. These matters deserve thoughtful consideration by everyone, most certainly by utility rate payers and their elected officials.

DP&L supports reasonable measures to protect environmental quality. However, in fairness to our customers, we will continue to oppose those measures which we sincerely believe to be unnecessary, unreasonable, and not in the best interests of those we serve.

CAMERA Angles

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

"Operation Sail," the magnificent maritime tribute to America's Bicentennial, brings into focus certain rules that apply particularly to marine photography. Water and boats are marvelous subjects for photographers but they have built-in hazards which must be emphasized to avoid accidents to cameras and photo fans and goof-ups in pictures.

Here, then, are suggestions and precautions to make picture taking safer and more productive from boats or of boats; on high seas or placid lakes; and of water scenes or shorelines.

Salt water and beach sand are the proverbial enemies of cameras and from which they must be protected. They easily penetrate, corrode and foul up gears and mechanisms like a cancer in a living body.

Prevention, of course, is the best cure. A plastic bag is an easily applied protective cover for a camera or gadget bag to prevent flying spray or sand from reaching your equipment whenever it is not in actual use. During the summer, all equipment — and extra film — should be kept in a dry, cool or shaded spot on boat or ashore. A plastic picnic cooler makes a light, portable storage box for camera equipment.

When shooting, you can provide a double safeguard for the camera lens by having a skylight filter to cover it and a lens hood to block stray flare, spray or sand. Between shots, cover the camera again with a plastic bag. You can't be over-cautious when photographing in potentially hazardous elements like salt water and loose sand.

If you're in an unprotected position on a moving boat, it would be taking a chance to aim the camera into a stiff breeze or flying spray, unless you have an underwater camera like a Nikonos. For that type of action picture, seek the protection of the cabin and use a telephoto lens.

If salt water ever douses your camera by accident, wash off affected parts immediately with fresh water, dry the camera and at the first opportunity have it inspected by a competent repairman.

Moving boats provide uncertain footing for picture taking. If you're standing up trying to shoot, be prepared for a sudden roll, lurch or pitch. A camera held close to the face may result in a skinned nose or bruised eye. To be prepared, take a stance with feet wide apart, knees bent and arms flexible, ready to compensate for the boat's motion.

Don't take a chance, how-

ever, in a very small boat in rough water or with motor boats racing around sending out powerful wakes. And don't lean against a small motor boat for support in taking pictures. Its vibrations can be transmitted to the camera.

Make sure light meter readings aren't unduly influenced by the expanse of sky or water reflections. Such readings give under-exposures. But sometimes this may be preferable because it can result in enhanced mood pictures with silhouetted boats or figures.

There are some special techniques for special effects. For an effective photo of another boat, travel alongside and at the same speed. When you shoot, use a slow shutter speed of 1-25th or 1-50th. The boat will be sharp but the background (if any) and the water racing by the hull will be blurred and give the impression of great speed.

The same effect can be obtained with the more difficult technique of panning the camera and shooting at a faster speed of 1-250th or 1-500th. Your subject may be a racing boat, a water skier, aquaplaner or surfer.

The photographer aims the camera at the subject when he starts his run and pans his body and camera with the subject in smooth, level motion.

When the subject reaches a predetermined, prefocused spot, the shutter release is clicked but the camera panning is continued a bit beyond. When successful, the subject is sharp and all else shows the blur of speed.

Alert camera fans should explore the beauty of water reflections. They come in many degrees from the complete mirror effect in placid water to the multifaceted designs conjured up in countless ripples. Colors run riot and forms take on unpredictable shapes when nature spins the water machine.

Marine pictures can be enhanced by the use of authentic props and people who impart a nautical flavor like fishermen and boatsmen along with nets, lobster traps, buoys, sea gulls, etc. When possible, use an appropriate figure or part of the boat to frame a picture at the side or top.

A wide-angle lens is a helpful accessory in shooting from the narrow confines of a boat. It permits shooting from close-up distances and its greater depth of field is needed when shooting action on the boat or to include part of the boat in the foreground with a subject beyond it. If the budget permits, a telephoto lens is another useful accessory when needed to bring distant objects closer.

Distances can be deceptive on water and often a scene or a small boat on the water may look enchanting to the eye but when photographed it becomes disappointingly dull or microscopically invisible on a print. From the vastness of water, you must compress, select and fill the frame with significant details or interesting action.

Finally, for more dramatic or more effective marine pictures, take advantage of nature's off-beat weather moods and shoot with sidelight and backlight, in mist, fog or storm as well as at sunrise and sunset.

In photography, too, if you steer a straight course with a clear helm, you won't run aground, get scuttled or go overboard. In fact, you'll return to port with "see-worthy" pictures.

State board appeals school ruling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state Board of Education says it will appeal a federal court decision that the state was partly responsible for segregation in the Cleveland schools.

The board made a formal decision Monday to appeal the ruling of U.S. District Court Judge Frank J. Battisti, who said in late August that the state board and the Cleveland city school board were guilty of "intentionally fostering and maintaining a segregated school system" by failing to pursue integration.

In its resolution, the state board said that "established roles, responsibilities, and relationships of state and local agencies in Ohio public education have been placed in question" by the Battisti decision.

The local school board has already appealed the decision to the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which sought the decision, filed a suit in Battisti's court to prevent any delay in implementing the decision.

The judge said he intends to appoint a specialist to assist the court in finding a remedy. He also ordered both boards to submit a plan within 90 days for desegregation of the system.

In 1975, nearly 92 per cent of Cleveland's pupils attended schools in which the enrollment was 90 per cent or more of one race.

A nine-member committee of the state board was appointed to study desegregation in the state, hold statewide hearings and work with the state Department of Education to design a monitor of the progress of desegregation.

In other action, the board gave a unanimous vote of confidence to Martin Essex, state superintendent of public instruction, after religious school leaders attending the meeting demanded Essex' resignation.

The church school leaders said Essex has been "un-Christian" and has failed to provide moral leadership.

The accusations were an outgrowth of the legal battle between the state and church schools over state accreditation of private religious schools.

In July, the Ohio Supreme Court ruled state minimum standards unconstitutionally interfered with the freedom of religion and could not be imposed on religious schools.

Essex has maintained that the decision does not prevent religious schools from voluntarily seeking state accreditation.

During the meeting Monday, the board granted state elementary school charters to the Real Life Christian Academy in Salem and the Tri-County Christian School in Fairfield, saying both have been found to meet minimum standards.

Two more units stolen

Reported radio thefts continue for officers

The weekend parade of citizens band radio theft reports continued Monday in both the Washington C.H. police and Fayette County sheriff's departments.

Clark Leeth, 5007 CCC Highway-W, reported two Citizens band radios were taken from vehicles parked at his residence Sunday morning.

George F. Spilker, Lakewood Hills, reported a citizen band radio theft from a car parked in his driveway, and Darrell S. Shibley, Apt. 6 C Wagner Court, reported one-fourth tank of gasoline was taken along with his citizens band radio.

In other action, the board:

—Approved vocational education construction grants for Belmont Technical College, $140,000; Coshocton County Joint Vocational School, $671,195; Hocking Technical College, $414,720, and Muskingum Area Joint Vocational School, $26,280.

—Authorized six school districts to put bond issues before the voters. The districts and amounts authorized were Jefferson Area, Ashtabula County, $550,000; Perry, Allen County, $122,750; Licking Heights, Licking County, $1.65 million; Highland, Morrow County, $1.95 million; Lakeview Local, Trumbull County, $1.75 million, and Franklin City, $234,000.

—Allocated work-study funds totaling $252,547 to 18 school districts, including $159,977 to the Dayton City School District, $28,000 to the Cleveland City School District, $10,016 to the Painesville City School District, $9,824 to the Lancaster City School District and $8,424 to the Union Local School District.

Other reports of criminal offenses included the theft of a large tool box from a pickup truck owned by Frank Verderano, 233 Kennedy Ave. He stated that the box was taken Sunday while the truck was parked in the municipal parking lot on S. Fayette Street. It contained two shotguns and a metal detector valued at more than nearly $500.

Ruth A. Hyer, of Octa, reported that two subjects in a pickup truck threw a rock through the window of her mobile home about 6 a.m. Monday.

Check fraud cases aired

Two check fraud cases and a shoplifting incident were aired Monday in Washington C.H. Municipal Court. A fourth case involved possession of marijuana, and all four defendants were found guilty.

Judge John P. Case ordered restitution and levied a fine of $30 in each bad check case. Those fined were Ronald D. Wiblin, 22, of New Holland for a $44 check to Kroger's, and Charles E. Showalter, 19, of Bloomingburg, for a $20 also to Kroger's.

Richard A. Hampton, 29, of Wilmington, was fined $30 for shoplifting a gear shift knob at Seaway, and Eric T. Baker, 23, of Jeffersonville, was fined $30 for possession of marijuana.

Dutch unsatisfied with plane probe

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP) — Sixty-two per cent of Dutch citizens believe an inquiry failed to reveal fully the facts on Prince Bernhard's involvement in the Lockheed bribery scandal.

An opinion poll, conducted by the Dutch Institute for Public Research (NIPO) for Elseviers magazine, showed that only 27 per cent of the respondents thought everything had been revealed.

Nine hundred persons were polled four days after the Aug. 26 publication of the report on Bernhard's dealings with Lockheed.

An independent three-man tribunal appointed by the government spent six months probing allegations that Queen Juliana's husband took $1.1 million dollars in Lockheed payouts. The probe failed to establish that the 65-year-old prince received such funds but found enough embarrassing evidence to force his resignation from public office.

If the Shoe Fits..

Your own foot doctor?

Joe Namath and the N.Y. Jets team have their own foot doctor, Dr. James Nicholas. He states, "A shoe that isn't well designed, with a low or too high vamp, can cause constriction in the foot, causing damage to muscles and small veins. Too tight, and a shoe causes vein damage not only in the foot, but also in the lower part of the leg. Too loose (which is a danger with clogs) and corns and callouses may result."

Proper shoe fit is essential to foot health, both among athletes and people in any 'walk' of life. It pays — yes, it pays, to buy only quality shoes and boots, and to have them fitted by qualified and conscientious shoe fitters.
